The Universiti Utara Malaysia Press (Penerbit Universiti Utara Malaysia), commonly known as UUM Press, started off in 1984 as a small bureau operation under the Library Department and responsible for publishing academic works. After more than three decades, the volume of works that have been published under its imprints are enormous and the genres are more versatile. UUM Press has not just published academic works as the likes of original work, edited work, monograph, popular scholarly work, translation and academic journals including a Scopus-indexed journal, it also has a sub-imprint called "UUM Press Kreatif" that publishes creative works. Having MS ISO 9001 certification, UUM Press fully handles the publication of manuscripts in-house. It also publishes scholarly books within seven to ten months after receiving complete original manuscripts from authors provided that the manuscripts meet the requirements set by the department. UUM Press is committed to providing good publication services to its customers. UUM Press has not lost its prominent role as a publication platform of academic works rather its function is enhanced, and it is therefore more committed in providing commendable publication services to the campus community. In its vision to be one of the prominent publishers in the country, UUM Press established partnerships with local and international publishers in joint publishing projects with shared imprints and cooperation with strong industry players in improving the quality of work published and enhancing the visibility of UUM authors.

VISION

To become a centre of excellence in scholarly publishing

MISSION

To generate high quality scholarly publishing

OBJECTIVES

- To develop an efficient and excellent publication management system recognised by the international standards.
- To manage and coordinate the publications of scholarly works in UUM with the IMPRIN of UUM Press to ensure that a high-quality standard of publications set by the university and the industry is met.
- To conduct writing and publication training programmes to help improve the university's publication quality.
- To offer printing services to clients according to the standard of quality specified.

Journal of Information and Communication Technology (JICT) is abstracted and indexed in Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI) in November 2017 and Scopus since 2011. It is a double-blind peer reviewed, international academic journal published quarterly (January, April, July and October) by Universiti Utara Malaysia. This journal covers all aspects of information and communication technology, its theories and applications. The aim of this journal is to provide coverage of the most significant research and development in the area of information and communication technology. To be accepted, a paper must be judged to be truly outstanding in its field and to be of interest to a wide audience. We are particularly interested in work at the boundaries, both the boundaries of subdisciplines of information and communication technology and the boundaries between information and communication technology and other fields. This is an open access journal. The articles on this site are available in full-text and free of charge to our web visitors.

Malaysian Journal of Learning and Instruction (MJLI) is abstracted in Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI) since 2016 and Scopus 2012. It is a double-blind peer reviewed, international academic journal published biannually (January and July) by Universiti Utara Malaysia. The aims of the journal are to communicate research and stimulate discussion, study and critique of teaching and learning, and to encourage scholarly writing on learning and instruction. Coverage of MJLI includes, but is not limited to critical examination of ecosystems and issues surrounding the processes of meaningful teaching and learning and better educational practices. These could be addressed at micro level (e.g., innovative modes of delivery, instructional design and technology, learning engagement, instructional settings) or at macro level (e.g., motivation, engaging curriculum, impact of socio-psychological and cultural factors on learning). We welcome original empirical research articles with novel perspectives and/or methodological approaches that would appeal to an international readership. We do not accept unsolicited conceptual and theoretical papers. MJLI supports open access. The electronic full text version of the journal is available free of charge.

Malaysian Management Journal (MMJ) is a refereed journal published annually in July by the UUM Press, Universiti Utara Malaysia. The main objective of the journal is to provide a channel for the publication of articles based on empirical research (es), original thoughts, comparative studies and commentaries in business management covering the areas of process, policy, strategy, theory, and behaviour with a focus on Malaysia, the Asian region and other emerging economies. The emerging economies contribute significantly to economic growth; this, coupled with their diverse and unique culture, offers a wealth of experience and knowledge that can be learned and shared. Thus, the MMJ provides a platform for the exchange of ideas, and sharing of thoughts, experience and knowledge, where business management, particularly in the emerging economies, is concerned. This is an open access journal which means that all content is freely available without charge to the user or his/her institution. Users are allowed to read, download, copy, distribute, print, search, or link to the full texts of the articles in this journal without asking prior permission from the publisher or the author.
